

ARCHITECTURAL PRODUCTS

MARCH 2018 // VOL 16 NO 2

ARCH-PRODUCTS.COM

As we delve deeper into the 21st century, the role of the architect is surely evolving, and practitioners must learn to adapt and become more flexible—possibly even shifting in and out of traditionally defined AEC roles.

This was the case with Studio Ma's Jason Boyer, who found himself in the developer's seat to fulfill his vision of 'aspirational' housing—only to find himself in business with former competitors to continue the journey.

JASON BOYER'S ARTHAUS:
THE MISSING MIDDLE

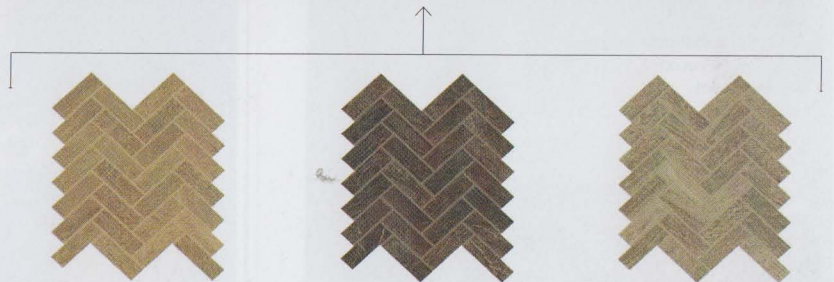

DALTILE
Woodbridge
www.daltile.com

CLASSIC STYLE TILE

Daltile's Woodbridge is ideal for spaces that are both relaxed and elegant. The inviting rich oak tones—almond, pecan, walnut and ash—and unexpected 4-in. x 28-in. plank format exude personality when installed in either a herringbone or chevron pattern. Woodbridge, one of six new Daltile floor products for 2017, is ideal to complement eclectic spaces that confidently contrast modern pieces with vintage finds. Circle 397

MCN FAUCETS
Extend
www.mcnfaucets.com

SLEEK AND SOPHISTICATED

With its sleek, sophisticated wide spread faucet, MCN's new Extend collection features a distinctive minimalist design and strong geometric lines. The faucet handles—available in polished chrome, brushed nickel and polished nickel—combine flat edges and curved profiles. Circle 396

