This photo: An apron-front sink nods to the home's country French styling, while the contemporary silhouette of the brushed-nickel faucet plays to the kitchen's transitional vibe. Opposite top: At the island, a built-in cutting board that slides out for cleaning eases meal prep. Beyond, a custom hutch brings the warmth of wood and helps bridge the transition from the kitchen to the dining area. Opposite bottom: To downplay the opulence of a circular dining room, Geran kept the look simple with modern furnishings and metallic tile floors.
