Via Emilia creates the illusion of painted and weathered timber via graphic imprints and surface veins. Each of the range's four palettes—white, dark (shown), gray and natural—has at least 80 different imprints with variations in shade and texture to mimic the organic lines of real wood. The porcelain tiles are available in five dimensions: 12-by-48, 6-by-48, 36-by-36, 24-by-24 and 16-by-48 in.

7 BRIZO

The Rook bath collection pairs low-spout architecture with crisp octagonal lines. Referencing its namesake chess piece, the range includes single-handle and widespread lavatory faucets with channel or closed spouts, a channel spout vessel lavatory, and cross or lever handles for its two-handle fixtures. The single-handle, closed spout faucet (shown) is available with optional SmartTouchPlus technology, which allows for touch-sensitive and hands-free operation.

Designed by architect Franco Sargiani, Acquadolce is a collection of multi-functional showerheads. The range includes three versions: its eponymous baseline style, a ceiling-mounted showerhead featuring rain, waterfall and mist functions; a Light version with white LED lighting; and a Dream model, which includes integrated three-color chromatherapy light. All three styles incorporate touchscreen technology.

20 SONNEMAN – A WAY OF LIGHT

Mimicking the flow of a forest brook, Stream Bath utilizes directional currents of water without producing bubbles. The therapy system features a whisper-quiet pump and rotating vents in lieu of jets, allowing bathers to customize ribbons of water output. An optional inline heater keeps the temperature at 104 F.
