THREE'S COMPANY

The classic shape of Perrin & Rowe's three-lever kitchen faucet, part of the company's Etruscan line, belies the modern technology inside. Rohl's patented Triflow system includes a lever for filtered water, eliminating the need for clumsy add-ons. The 12"-high unit comes in five finishes, including polished chrome, shown, and costs $1,847. 800-777-9762; rohlhome.com

HEATING UP

Bertazzoni's Design Series includes this clean-lined glass-and-steel cooktop, the first to combine a single solid-brass gas burner, an easy-to-clean griddle, and two fast-heating induction zones; optional accessories include griddle plates, a wok ring, and a simmer ring. It measures 36" w. x 20.5" d. and is priced at $2,699. bertazzoni.com

THE WRIGHT STUFF

The Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation's Taliesin drawer pulls echo the organic materials and graceful geometry of their namesake, the architect's Wisconsin studio. The fixtures pair anodized aluminum with, from bottom, walnut, stainless steel, beech, and oil-rubbed bronze; custom versions are offered. The 1.25"-deep pulls come in 1.25", 3.75", and 7" lengths and are priced from $50 to $69. 914-220-0277; reveal-designs.com

SPIN CYCLE

Its retro looks and compact size allow the Bianca Directional ceiling fan to adapt to any space; the blades can be maneuvered along a 180-degree arc, directing airflow where it's needed. The Y-shaped fan has mahogany blades and comes in multiple finishes, including polished copper, shown. A caged fan with metal blades, ideal for lower ceilings, is also offered. Prices range from $575 to $750. 847-680-9043; matthewsfanco.com

ANGLE OF REPOSE

A master class in minimalism, the Shortcut towel rack ($355), designed by Nendo for Boffi, is made from a single stainless steel rod. The 31" h. x 24" w. piece takes on new forms when viewed from different angles and could stand alone in a bathroom or kitchen. It has a smooth, matte-white finish. 212-431-8282; boffi-soho.com

SPARKLE AND SHINE

Furniture craftsman Christophe Pourny's Furniture Tonic is a hand-mixed, nontoxic blend of linseed and walnut oils that restores and protects wood furniture. The recipe, developed over 15 years, includes aromatic essences of lavender and rosemary. A 6.7-oz. bottle costs $15. 718-855-8865; christophepourny.com
