WELCOME TO YOUR BATHROOM

the SPIRIT of WATER

3form

When 3form states it has plans to send zero waste to landfill, the company walks the walk. How will this noble goal be accomplished? One answer is in—literally—PaperCut. Sealed within the translucent Varia Ecoresin panel is a layer of sliced pages from the manufacturer's catalog overruns. The helter-skelter arrangement of colorful strips gives each sheet a festive, confetti-ish look. 801-649-2500; 3-form.com.

Richter USA

When is a photograph more than just a photograph? When it also absorbs sound. Richter's innovation allows any image to be printed on ½- or ¾-inch-thick Acoustic-Lightboard, which in turn helps minimize noise (to the tune of a 0.85 NRC). Talk about multitasking. 888-872-4780; richter-veneertechnology.com. circle 691

Seves Glassblock

The word "dogged" could be used to describe the research Seves does on glass blocks; the company's choice is "incessant." Either way, Seves is clearly on a mission to improve the aesthetics and technology of its signature product. This year it debuted Glass Blocks, which not only feature three-dimensional surfaces and a strong color palette but are also more energy efficient. 39-55-44-951; sevesglassblock.com. circle 693

Magnuson Group

These are recycling receptacles you won't mind displaying. QDesign's Sotare line, constructed of powdercoated steel, comes in four styles—a 34-gallon half-elliptical unit (with either one or two top openings) and a left- and a right-sided 14-gallon quarter elliptical unit—with possibilities for creative configurations. In addition to the anodized-aluminum finish here, they're made in bronze metallic, dark anthracite, and lunar white. Your garbage never looked so good. 800-342-5725; magnusongroup.com. circle 694

Du Verre the Hardware Co.

The devil is often in the details—but in this case, thankfully, Scot Laughton is. The award-winning industrial designer applied his keen aesthetic to the creation of the Series 3 hardware collection. This suite of slender, shapely knobs and pulls, made from recycled aluminum, is offered in four sizes and four handsome finishes. 415-593-0182; duverre.com. circle 695
