1. The gently rounded and tapered form of Hansgrohe's Metris kitchen mixers make them an ideal companion to the rectangular shapes found in contemporary sinks. The line is available in fixed, extendable, and pull-out versions.

2. Duravit has updated its X-Large series of bathroom furniture with a variety of sleek new looks, finishes, and configurations. The new collection comprises 112 models in eight different finishes, all of which can be combined with existing pieces.

3. Tilt from Moen features a streamlined profile that works well in contemporary kitchens of all shapes and sizes. Its Spot Resist™ stainless finish resists fingerprints and water spots, while its single-hole mount creates a cleaner look on custom countertops.

4. With a molded, unfinished-looking exterior and a slightly askew rim, Hoodoo circular basins from Pyrolave add a sense of unexpected fun to bathroom design. The line is made from enameled lava stone and offered in a wide variety of colors.

5. Axor ShowerProducts designed by Front transform pipes, joints, valves, and funnels into charming design objects. The line features five distinct configurations, including a shower pipe with thermostat and an overhead shower with two different spray types.

6. Native Trails' Maestro Sonata copper vessel sink features a circular, low-profile design that harmonizes nicely with both contemporary and traditional designs. Maestro is artisan-crafted, showcasing the estimated 30,000 hammer strikes needed to forge the 15-gauge, recycled copper basin.

7. Puzzle by Sonia combines up to three different geometric elements into one vanity, including a 50-centimeter base unit with left and right doors, a door side unit, and drawer side unit. Available in five finishes.
