RELAXED FIT

SHADES OF SEA AND SKY OFFER A VACATION FROM FORMALITY IN THIS CASUALLY DRESSED FISHER ISLAND RETREAT DESIGNED WITH FAMILY AND FRIENDS IN MIND.

WRITTEN BY HEATHER L. SCHRECKENGAST PHOTOGRAPHY BY CLAUDIA URIBE

A freestanding tub from Victoria + Albert invites pure relaxation with its naturally sculpted form. Its sleek, glossy white finish provides a complementary foil for a lustrous golden fixture, existing iridescent mosaic tiles and wooden plantation shutters.

the line between modern and earthy, such as a reclaimed-timber console with a streamlined mirror in the foyer, a walnut live-edge table with mod chairs in the dining area, and wooden swivel stools in the contemporary kitchen. Even the fireplace—newly dressed in composite stone—offers a complementary contrast to the casually wrought living room.

While the views inspired Going's approach, they also influenced the palette, with cobalt and azure blue in the area rugs, upholstery, art, and accessories throughout. Even the master suite is awash in the soothing, ethereal hue.

But nowhere does the color scheme come more to life than on the balcony, where shades of sea and sky continue as far as the eye can see. From here, the family waves to cruise ships passing by. With umbrella-accented drinks in hand, they kick back and relax just the way they imagined, in true vacation style. L
