ThermaSol Kicks Off Bathroom Design Contest

ThermaSol recently announced a bathroom design competition called Project Steam. The contest is open to anyone interested in creating the perfect bathroom environment. Contestants will be asked to compose a detailed description of the bathroom, making sure to explain how the ThermaSol Steam Shower would be incorporated. The proposals will be judged on the quality of the design and the unique inclusion of the ThermaSol Steam Shower. The prize is a ThermaSol Steam Shower generator, control kit and retractable steam head. Entries will be accepted between Aug. 1, 2011 and Jan. 31, 2012. Other entry requirements and additional information for Project Steam can be found at thermasol.com/projectsteam.
