PEEPHOLE CAMERA

The SHC500 PeepHole Camera from Brinno records visitors outside the door, where it looks like a traditional peephole. Inside, it has a 2.7-inch LCD screen display. The camera keeps a digital log of images and video clips on a micro SD card with up to 32GB of memory. It comes with four AA batteries that last up to 3,000 activations or six months, the company says. For more info circle 820

KEYLESS DEADBOLT

The Assure Lock SL deadbolt from Yale Locks & Hardware is a touchscreen with a key-free design. Available as a standalone keypad lock or with Yale Network Module for home automation integration, the deadbolt is unlocked by entering a PIN on the touchscreen. It can hold up to 25 codes or, with the network module, 250 codes. The deadbolt is available in three finishes. For more info circle 823

DOOR PLATES AND KNOBS

Nostalgic Warehouse's new line of door plates and knobs, the New York Collection, emphasizes versatile design, including back plate and knob pairings, with or without a keyhole. Options include an interior mortise lockset to fit existing vintage doors. New York Collection hardware is offered in eight finishes, including Antique Pewter, Oil-Rubbed Bronze, and Bright Chrome. For more info circle 821

ELONGATED DOOR PLATES

The new Tall Plate collection from Grandeur Hardware is suited for oversized doors measuring 84 inches and more. The collection has three style offerings – Arc, Carré, and Fifth Avenue. Forged from solid brass, the plates provide strength and durability. Available in eight finishes, the plates come with a plastic template for installation. All mounting hardware is included. For more info circle 822

SMART DEADBOLT

The Schlage Sense Smart Deadbolt is now compatible with Amazon's Alexa smart assistant. Consumers can use Alexa-enabled devices or the Alexa app to lock or check the status of their front door. The Schlage Sense Wi-Fi Adapter acts as the connecting link between the lock and Alexa, eliminating the need to purchase a central hub. For more info circle 824
