Inspired by the therapeutic benefits of a thermal spring

BAINULTRA® REVOLUTIONIZES THE AIR JET BATH INDUSTRY

(Quebec, Canada) BainUltra®, the pioneer and inventor of the THERMOMASSEUR (air jet bath), unveils its most recent advancement in air jet bath therapy - Geysair™. This new technology advances the benefits of air bath therapy by providing warm jets of air prolonging the hydro-therapy massage session with more intense results. Inspired by the well-known therapeutic properties of hot mineral springs, Geysair delivers a true feeling of warmth when air bubbles touch the skin.

While most of us applaud the benefits of air jet bath therapy some still crave more uniform heat and a deeper, more intense massage. By heating and humidifying the air jets, the Geysair system maintains the temperature of the bath water providing prolonged warmth delivering numerous therapeutic benefits to the bather. Starting with a sensation of cozy and uniform heat, the bather's body receives a deep massage from the skin to the joints, almost mimicking the feeling of a manual massage. The Geysair air jet system beckons you to enjoy a moment of fulfillment and relaxation.

Prior to Geysair technology the air from the heated air jet system was dry and while this system is still highly effective when it comes to delivering hydro-massage some bathers reported a sensation of coolness on the body. When dry air comes into contact with the water it loses its thermal energy and creates a feeling of coolness on the skin of sensitive bathers. Now with the Geysair Massage Effect the heated air is humidified and holds its thermal energy to create a feeling of prolonged warmth for the bather. Maintaining a uniform water temperature for the entire length of the bath is an advance that is praised by bathers. The warmth unquestionably delivers an enhanced relaxation experience.
