Spring is a season for renewal and refreshment—a time to shake off the doldrums of winter and spruce up the design space. This is especially true in the bathroom, where new spring looks and great new products are plentiful. Start with a good old-fashioned spring-cleaning, and maybe a fresh coat of paint. Then take a serious look to evaluate what improvements can be made in keeping with the latest trends. Is it space-challenged? Or missing a certain Zen-like atmosphere? Thanks to innovative leaders in the bath industry, there are easy solutions to these problems. We love the detail that goes into modern bathroom design—the careful consideration of color and scale, the little touches that add big impact. Here are a few trends for spring 2018 that will inspire your clients to create a chic bathroom that incorporates good looks, amazing products, and fashion-forward design.

Focus on wellness
Creating a luxurious spa-inspired bath experience at home continues to be a rising trend. MTI Baths embraces the wellness aspect of this trend by adding a new sensory therapy to its repertoire of hydrotherapy options. MicroBubbles use the powers of tiny bubbles to gently cleanse and exfoliate the skin. This innovative technology saturates the water with 50 percent more dissolved oxygen than regular water, turning the bath water a milky white and creating a relaxing soak. As millions of tiny bubbles pop, they release energy that helps to keep the bath water hot and the bather’s body temperature warm. The oxygenated water gently polishes the skin and removes impurities from pores, leaving the body moisturized with skin that is soft and exceptionally smooth. This new therapy option is available on most of MTI Baths’ drop-in tubs for both soakers and air baths. www.mtibaths.com

Color blocking is black
You might think of soft pastels as the traditional colors of spring, but this year’s color trend is all about bold color blocking patterns, and the leading color is black. Designers are moving away from white-on-white bathrooms in favor of a look that is more high-contrast. Black is a particularly sophisticated choice in the bathroom, and Lenova strikes just the right note with their fabulous black granite sinks. Available as an above counter round bowl or a rectangular sink paired with a chic stainless-steel stand; both options are visually stunning. The sinks are created from a solid block of natural stone by skilled craftsmen who take up to 10 days to perfect each sink to its final form. No two are exactly alike, but all share an amazing beauty that makes them a design focal point in the bathroom. The sinks are available in different sizes and include a unique hidden drain system to ensure a clean look. www.lenovasinks.com

Its two-piece design features a compact elongated bowl and is fully skirted for a contemporary silhouette. Living large

Making spaces seem larger than they are is always a good thing, whether that is achieved through smart engineering or with visual elements that create an illusion of roominess. MTI Baths succeeds on both counts with their redesigned Alissa freestanding tub. Offered in response to frequent requests for a tub that will fit in a 66-inch alcove, this beautiful oval bath is notable for its integral pedestal and sleek lines. The Alissa measures a compact 64-5/8-inch long x 33-1/2-inch wide, yet with MTI’s single-wall SculptureStone construction, the bathing well is surprisingly spacious. Offered in white or biscuit, matte or gloss finish, the tub can be ordered as a soaking tub or as a therapeutic air bath. www.mti-baths.com

AQUA-REX PERFORMANCE CERTIFIED BY IAPMO R&T LABS

Aqua-Rex, the technology leading softener alternative, has published the results of performance tests carried out by IAPMO R & T Labs under the new test protocol IGC 335-2018 known as the Rapid Scaling Test. IAPMO reports Aqua-Rex reduced scaling by 83% in Las Vegas water heated to 180°F for 23 hours. IGC 335 is the first US accepted test standard for Physical Water Conditioners (PWC’s).

Wholesalers see vendors offering all kinds of PWC’s, softener alternatives, but until now have had no way of differentiating between the good, the bad and the indifferent. The new IAPMO standard is a benchmark performance test that will bolster confidence for plumbers and contractors resulting in fewer complaints and returns. There is an obvious need for de-scaling devices, especially for tankless heaters so a reliable, long lasting product such as Aqua-Rex with a US performance certification is an obvious choice for stocking and promotion.

Tankless heaters apart, the big market for Aqua-Rex is the commercial sector, Multi family, Condos and hospitality where dosing “filters” are not a viable solution. Aqua-Rex has proven itself as a huge cost saving alternative to traditional softeners, in one case saving $500,000 over three years for an investment of $55,000. Vendors of traditional water treatment see Aqua-Rex as a major threat to their business which is why our chosen route to market is exclusively through Plumbing Wholesalers. Aqua-Rex supports the wholesaler and the wholesaler has an open window to exploit a new sector of the water treatment market.
