will hold their weddings someday, where they want to be—always. “On a typical weekend, we walk the dogs up and down the driveway and through the fields. We sit outside and watch the moonrise—the changing colors of the sky over the mountains,” Heidi says. “It’s captivating, idyllic—a pinch-yourself kind of place. We never want to leave.”

Architect: Lee Grutchfield Interior designers: Nancy Galasso and Richard Cerrone

Library “An old-time Vermont artisan painstakingly lacquered the walls in Kevin’s office,” Heidi says. “He was in there for weeks putting on coat after coat of paint.” Meanwhile, the young team of decorative-painting artists from Deux Femmes in Fairfield County, Connecticut, created the shimmery ceiling.
Master bedroom A canopy bed with an oversize upholstered headboard brings down the scale of this vaulted space. Fabrics supply touchable texture.
Master bath A freestanding tub, set atop durable—and heated—porcelain floors, takes in mountain views.
