Above: The master bedroom is now a calming respite, with a light gray color palette and clean-lined Bernhardt furnishings from International Design Source. Cinnabar-designed custom bedding and window treatments maintain the soothing aesthetic. A hand-loomed area rug completes the room's monochromatic appeal.

Left: The dramatic transformation of the master bath includes an addition for a larger walk-in closet. A freestanding MTI tub with Rohl tub filler is positioned in front of a floating shower wall clad in 24-by-12-inch Marvel Pro Crema Delicato tile with hexagonal mosaic accent by Design Works. The artistic design is in clear view from the master suites' redesigned entry.

The new interior design led the clients in a completely different direction. The original inspiration images they presented to the designers were traditional and dated—very similar to their old interior. Walter and Sereghy crafted those ideas into an updated, neutral, soft-transitional design. “He (the husband) was dead-set against contemporary and transitional, but when he saw our idea, he not only okayed it, but embraced it, and really enjoyed the process, even texting me inspiration images from locales he visited in his world travels,” laughs Walter.

The owners never went inside the home during the final stages of the remodel process. When it was revealed to them upon completion they were, “...amazed and delighted with the outcome.” They agree, the team delivered their “...happily ever after...” and more. ■

The owners toured many homes and models to find an interior look they loved. After identifying several they admired, all coincidentally done by the team of Charlie Hansen and Rebekah Errett-Pikosky of Clive Daniel Home, their decision was made.

"Though we work as a team," says Hansen, "we are able to bring different design aesthetics to the project, so we added the softness, but still with a bit of an edge." ▶

Above: MTI Baths Elise tub with stand-alone faucet by Rohl, available at Ferguson Bath, Kitchen & Lighting Gallery, holds pride of place in front of the large master bath windows framing an ancient banyan tree. Honed stone bands the window and continues onto the floor, walls, and built-in shelves.

Above: The custom curved-glass windows give a full spectrum water view from this elegant master bedroom. A Fine Art bronze and smoked glass chandelier, suspended from an ornate maple tongue-and-groove ceiling, overlooks a seating area featuring two high backed Adriana Hoyos chairs and a Vanguard settee in warm sable. The Hickory White bed has a tufted head and frame upholstered in softly shining cotton with the silk coverlet, linens and pillows custom made of Kravet fabric. Fine Art pendants in brushed metal and studio glass flank the bed; at the foot is a Vanguard bench upholstered in metallic Baker fabric. Adriana Hoyos nightstands feature banded wood with a champagne finish and Crema Marfil stone tops. The Metallic Starlight painted custom console by Old Biscayne Designs cleverly conceals a television. The custom wool and silk rug in inky blue and sable is by Clive Daniel Home.
