Towel warmer now available in matte black finish

WARMUP expands its towel warmer collection with new matte black finishes, which join brushed and polished finishes. The company offers electric models that can be mounted and hardwired to a light switch. In comparison to hydronic towel warmers, the product is lighter, easier to install and heats up faster. Once mounted and wired, the towel warmers heat up in just 3 minutes and only consume as much as one or two lightbulbs.

Dramatic wall-mount faucet makes big design impact

ISENBERG elevates the art of bathroom design with its Infinity Wall Mount Faucet, which frames the side of the mirror before angling away from the wall to create a waterfall effect. The faucet measures 34 inches in height and may be installed on the left or right of the mirror, making it an ideal choice for symmetrical dual vanities. The hidden aerator allows for easy cleaning and helps achieve a sleek, minimalist look.

Versatile series redefines industrial bath style

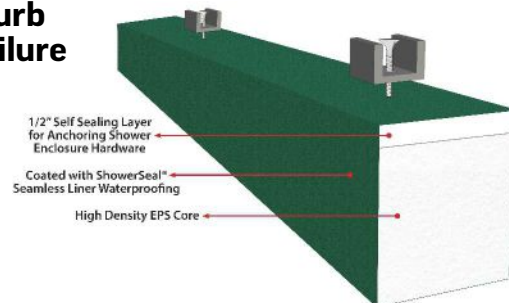

CALIFORNIA FAUCETS tells an inventive story with Steampunk Bay, a new series inspired by science-fiction, gear-driven time machines and spring-mechanized robots. Utilitarian shapes and slightly distressed finishes capture an industrial design ethos, while an array of customization options can create a personalized expression in the bathroom. The series offers a choice between single-hole and widespread faucet, wall or deck mounted, with curved high-arc spout or slightly square low-spout design.

Self-sealing shower curb prevents leaks, tile failure

KBRS engineers its HardCurb shower curb with a solid EPS core and self-sealing anchoring cap to prevent damaging water leaks and swelling that cause tile failure. The system is composed of a high-density closed-cell foam base and the higher-density composite anchoring cap, which is configured to retain a fastener to form a water-resistant seal. HardCurb is easy to cut-to-fit in the field and install with any prefabricated shower pan or sloped mortar bed.
