ISLAND fever

UPSCALE TROPICAL LIVING

Above: The master bath is a trifecta of glorious elements. MTI's inviting Andrea whirlpool bath features a marble surface and taupe wood surround. Tiles ranging from the palest gray to the deepest charcoal are arranged in a lively harlequin pattern to embellish the sizable glass-enclosed shower. A grand hand-wrought iron chandelier, dripping with oyster shells and crystal, hangs proudly overhead.

Above: Suggestive of a barn or shed, this inviting bedroom dedicated to the children of the house uses a profusion of painted shiplap wooden board to bring about its irresistible, hideaway feel. Cozy as a cabin, its bunks, nautical-inspired bedding, and privacy curtain were all custom-designed by Carlson Brundage.

Right: At the rear of the home, the swimming pool, which features a table and chairs and a shallow sun ledge, is neatly tucked away. Due to the island's water restrictions and providing desired shade for the pool, the pool is covered with a white canopy that can be retracted when needed. The pool is also covered with a bar area with outdoor kitchen equipped by American Grill and a conversation area with comfortable sectional seating. Decorative stained-cypress balcony ceilings play into the island-inspired aesthetic.
