Spa shower delivers better coverage with less water

MOEN collaborates with Nebia, a Silicon Valley-based startup, to launch the Nebia by Moen spa shower. Engineered for optimal warmth, rinsing and body coverage, Nebia by Moen provides a superior shower experience through atomization, which is the process of breaking up water into tiny droplets. The patented spray technology creates the sensation of more water while actually using 45 percent less. This means each water drop works harder to get users clean and refreshed.

Drain provides finishing touch for variety of decor

CALIFORNIA FAUCETS infuses style into the bathroom with its Roxbury StyleDrain, the third of four styles by award-winning Beverly Hills interior designer Christopher Grubb. Featuring an abstract zigzag pattern that brings a bold sense of personality into the shower, Roxbury becomes a focal point. Made of solid brass, it has no visible or protruding screws, making the drain comfortable to stand on. Its durable construction also means the drain will not bend or give out underfoot.

Fixtures bring free-flowing silhouettes to bathroom

ISENBERG offers an intriguing blend of structure and ease with the Serie 260 Collection, created in its design lab. The base of the faucet is softly curved with graceful lines inspired by flowing water, while the flat spout is elegant in its geometric simplicity. The overall effect pairs organic natural shapes with a contemporary sophistication. Serie 260 faucets are available as single-hole or wide-spread with sleek handles that add interest and echo the minimalist vibe of the spout.
