PEAK PERFORMANCE

While Navien PeakFlow systems have been protecting its tankless water heaters and combi boilers from damaging lime/calcium deposits for years, this advanced technology is now available to protect a complete water supply system. The first of the series, PeakFlow S, is aimed at residential and light commercial. Its technology transforms potential hard-scale buildup to soft-scale mineral deposits that can easily be washed out with water flow, contributing up to a 30% increase in water flow efficiency.
