by VINCENT SALANDRO

▲ FRANZ VIEGENER

Franz Viegenger's Classic collection features lavatory faucets with gently squared gooseneck spouts and coordinating lever handles, showcasing a contemporary twist of a traditional silhouette. Ribbed details have been subtly incorporated into the handles of the faucet to provide texture and complexity, according to Franz Viegenger. Classic faucets are available as a widespread or wall-mounted model in a variety of polished, brushed, and satin finishes. franzviegenger.com

California Faucets introduced a new spout option to its Rincon Bay series. The 8 $\frac{3}{8}$ -inch-tall, high-arc spout contrasts the series' original low, aerodynamic spout. The Rincon Bay series is available with options such as softly rounded cross handles and cylinder escutcheons. Spout options for the series include the new high-arc spout and the original angular, low-spout set. The faucets can be enhanced with the selection of more than 28 artisan finishes to match any interior design style. calfaucets.com
