Celebrate the Roaring 20s

Gessi partnered with renowned Spanish designer Lázaro Rosa Violán to create the eclectic Venti20 bath hardware collection. With elegant detailing and simple lines, the award-winning series brings the infectious spirit and joy of the Roaring 20s into modern times.

Venti20 has a definite industrial vibe — notice the detailed handles, fluted bodies and reflective cuts — and adds interest with soft curves and inviting textures. Each piece is carefully considered and balanced to look beautiful from every angle.

Gessi has expanded the collection to include all manner of mixers for basins, baths and showers, as well as freestanding tubs, washbasins and bidets, and even towel rails and soap holders. Venti20 designs are offered in an amazing selection of fine finishes, from traditional favorites like aged bronze and antique brass to modern options such as chrome and brushed black metal.

A Modern Dash of Deco

MTI Baths celebrates iconic Art Deco style with its release of the sophisticated Magda freestanding tub. As an exquisite example of the brand's luxurious Cosmopolitan Collection, Magda embodies this defining look that skyrocketed in popularity during the 1930s and remains a perennial favorite today.

With its streamlined silhouette and bold geometric detailing, the Magda tub has a strong modern elegance that makes a singular style statement. The tub was designed with comfort in mind and includes gently angled backrests and room enough for two bathers. Measuring nearly 66 inches long, the Magda is offered as a deeply relaxing soaker tub or as an indulgent air bath with a hydrotherapy package featuring 20 air jets with a heated blower and oh-so-handly waterproof remote control.

As part of MTI's Cosmopolitan Collection, Magda is crafted from cast-engineered stone using a proprietary mineral composite blend of organic dolomitic limestone. A meticulous finishing process results in a flawless, nonporous surface that is exceptionally durable and easily cleaned. The tub may be ordered in a glossy white finish or beautiful matte options in white, gray or black.
