Tile collection offers smooth texture and organic appearance

CROSSVILLE TILE debuts Cleve, a carbon neutral porcelain tile collection that captures the appearance of quartzite while offering the performance necessary for modern bathroom environments. The collection features the company's proprietary FeatherSoft finish, which makes tiles feel exceptionally smooth and silky underfoot while meeting friction requirements for indoor applications. Tiles come in three versatile sizes and two mosaics, including the company's first hexagonal tile. | crossville.com

Slot drain allows on-site size adjustment for easy installation

INFINITY DRAIN announces the Site Sizable Slot Drain which is field-adjustable for easy installation. With a clean and refined design, the drain allows installers to cut and assemble it to exact site conditions. The drain is compatible with traditional waterproofing methods and a variety of floor materials, providing the flexibility and precision that modern design demands. It is available in 11 finishes, including satin brass, satin stainless, polished stainless, and polished brass. | infinitydrain.com

Bathtub draws from traditional Japanese design

RUVATI introduces the Omnia Ofuro freestanding tub, a modern interpretation of a traditional Japanese ofuro soaking tub. Shorter and deeper than a normal tub, Ofuro's compact size allows for deep relaxation and full-body immersion in small spaces. The gently rounded interior and built-in elevated seat provide exceptional comfort and support. The tub is crafted from the company's signature epiS-tone, a blend of 70 percent organic crushed stone with a proprietary resin. | ruvati.com

Collection of bath fixtures references midcentury aesthetics

WATERMARK DESIGNS introduces Refinement, its bath fixture collection inspired by the textured surfacing of vintage cigarette lighters from 1940s and 1950s New York. Designed by Benjamin Peak, the reference manifests in the collection's softened edges, tactile surfaces, and consistent geometry across fixtures. Developed as a cohesive system with multiple handle options and more than 30 finishes, Refinement balances historical design with a contemporary sense of simplicity. | watermark-designs.com
